

Exclusion policy for weapons prohibited by international conventions transposed into French law

AG2R LA MONDIALE does not hold securities in its portfolios issued by companies involved in the production, marketing or storage of weapons prohibited by international conventions adopted by France.

1. Prohibited weapons

This policy applies to the following weapons:

Weapons	Conventions	Transposition into French law
Anti-personnel mines	Ottawa	Act no. 98-564 of 8 July 1998
Cluster munitions	Oslo	20 July 2010 Act no. 2010-819
Biological weapons	Convention on biological and toxin weapons	Act no. 72-467 of 9 June 1972
Chemical weapons	Convention on the prohibition of chemical weapons (CWC)	Article L. 2342-3 of the French Defence Code (Code de la défense)

These types of weapons are used proactively and offensively for indiscriminate attacks that kill or injure people regardless of whether or not they are participants in a conflict. According to the United Nations (UN), civilians represent 98% of the victims of cluster munitions, and 40% of deceased civilians are children. Furthermore, the presence of anti-personnel mines in former conflict zones prevents agricultural land from being used and disturbs the economic activity of the affected areas, thereby hindering their reconstruction and development. Chemical and biological weapons are formally prohibited and denounced by international law as unacceptable.

2. Definition of the companies involved

Any public or private, listed or unlisted company is deemed to be directly or indirectly (through a subsidiary in which it holds 50% or more of the capital) involved in the production, marketing or storage of prohibited weapons if it:

- produces, markets or stores controversial weapons or components specifically designed for such weapons that are essential for their operation;
- provides assistance, technology or services essential for these weapons, such as logistics or transport.

3. Financial assets concerned

The policy concerns all asset classes (shares, bonds or derivative instruments) that could contribute to financing the companies involved.

These assets and instruments are excluded from all portfolios managed by the AG2R LA MONDIALE Group and/or the management company AG2R LA MONDIALE GESTION D'ACTIFS. No securities issued by a company involved (as defined above) may be accepted as collateral or under repurchase agreements, particularly in securities lending/borrowing transactions. This policy is implemented according to a procedure revised in July 2017.
